Additional comments:
The private label using is expected to expand market share in the coming years. However, private-label growth forms a stimulus to start a detailed analysis (especially on the Russian market). Therefore, the topic choice and accuracy in defining the aim and tasks of the thesis seem to me reasonable, actual, and well-done. The thesis reviewed is rather well structured using integrity of historical and logical approaches. Theoretical and empirical parts of the said thesis are well-balanced and the second one is factually underpinned by the corresponding suggestions of the first one. Analyzing the list of references leads to conclusion that an application of the latest trends in relevant researches takes place herein. The sampling approach in terms of size and age windows looks as rational and reliable. A sort of negligence in text formatting and table forming as well as partially inadequate translation between Russian and English texts in the opening of the work are noted.

Master thesis of Aleksandra Belova meets the requirements of Master in International Business program, and deserves a/an “excellent” grade, thus the author can be given the desired degree.
